

Heritage Room Photographs

History

The photographs in this collection fall into several categories. They were not originally in any particular order and seem to have been gathered haphazardly over the years. The earliest were probably created around 1975, the most recent date from the late 1980s to the early 1990s. Many were created for displays and exhibits and are duplicated elsewhere in the archives. Others were created for student publications or for student. There is one box of antique photographs. When the Heritage Room collections were reorganized in 2011, it was decided that these materials should be gathered into a single Local History photograph collection.

Provenance

This collection was donated to the Archives by various departments of the College and College organizations. The timeline of these donations has not been determined, although most of them seem to have been accessioned sometime in the late 1970s and early 1980s. These photographs are the property of the Tarrant County College District. This collection is available to researchers by appointment. Please contact the TCCD Archives.

Scope and Description

This collection consist of 17 boxes of photographic images ranging in size from 3X4 snapshots to large format 11X14 mounted photographs. Many reflect campus life and the institutional history of the college, but a significant number are images of Fort Worth, Hurst, Bedford, and other Tarrant County communities. Some are antique photographs donated in the 1970s. Some of the images record the creation and early year of the Heritage Room. Most of the photographs are black and white, although there are some in color. Many of these photographs are duplicates of images from the Heritage Room Local History photographs collection. Some of the mounted photographs are student projects. One box contains collection Peter Feresten's photographs of Fort Worth neighborhoods. Feresten was a noted regional photographer who taught photography on the Northeast Campus for many years. Several boxes contain images from the Local History Photograph Collection mounted and used for displays. Others were obviously made for College annuals and other publications. (See the Public Relations and Marketing Department Photograph Collection)

Photographs by Joseph Weisberg

Joseph Weisberg was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on November 14, 1913. After finishing high school, he moved to Texas to attend Texas Christian University. With the outbreak of WWII in 1941 he enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Corps. He served as a public relations officer at Kelley Field in San Antonio, and later at Tarrant Air Base in Fort Worth. (Tarrant Air base would later become Carswell Air Base.) In 1943 he was assigned to the B-24 Bomber Training Base in Liberal, Kansas. He was honorably discharged from the armed forces in 1945. After the war he pursued a career in marketing and advertising. After retiring in 1973 he devoted his time to photography and journalism. Mr. Weisberg was especially interested in aviation and aviation history. He also devoted a good deal of time to documenting people and places in Texas. The seven images in this collection reflect his interest in aviation, rural Texas and architecture. Mr. Weisberg passed away in March of 1983.

Weisberg's personal papers and extensive collection of aviation history photographs and research can be found at the University of Texas at Dallas:
<http://libtreasures.utdallas.edu/xmlui/handle/10735.1/1399>

The Fort Worth Public Library Archives has a smaller collection of Weisberg's aviation photographs
